	Compound words everywhere sunflower	Here There Everywhere	Pace and expression: Identifying rhythm-- Poem written as a book. Which parts can you read like a poem or a song?	Understanding non- fiction: cyclic nature of text *Why do you think there is one large sunflower and several smaller ones surrounding it? What could that mean for the way the author will share the information?  Identifying and understanding a pattern: Page 6—if pattern repeats here, what will pages 7 and 8 say?	Shared writing experience: Use “here, there, everywhere” pattern to develop a three-line or -page rhyme or verse
